

peoplenews

BULLETIN:

Thursday 10 January 6:50

newsroom

Today

Britney to appear on chat show
 Frank Skinner duets with princess of pop
 Read on ...

Party of the day

Grand Union opening

Winona's smoking defence
 Actress just popped out of store
 Read on ...

Today's Gossip

The Loop

JUST IN

Tracy Shaw's airborne punch-up
 'We weren't drunk,' claims soap star
 Read on ...

J.Lo's jacket-swiping drama
 Security guards too busy watching show
 Read on ...

Vanessa complaint rejected
 TV star 'forfeited' right to privacy
 Read on ...

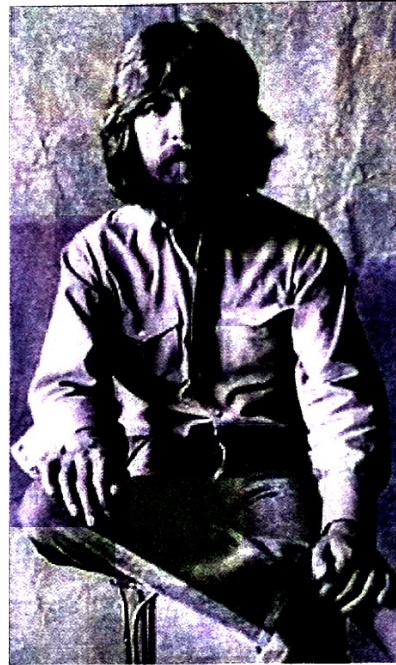

Geri convinces in 2D
 Who won yesterday's PeopleNews poll?
 Read on ...

Robbie's AA meets in bar
 Century bar hosts boozeless evenings
 Read on ...

Jemima and Joan most beautiful
 Hello! insists poll was scientific
 Read on ...

Bing: Matt Perry is the father
 Liz denies reports
 Read on ...

Robbo worst-dressed woman
 Our Anne slagged off by fashion guru
 Read on ...

George Harrison tribute concert? Stars await the go-ahead

Talks are under way for a George Harrison tribute concert, according to MSNBC.com. At the time of his death, the ex-Beatle was working on a follow-up to the Concert for Bangladesh 30 years ago. 'He was working on a fundraiser that would have benefited charities connected to the UN,' says Michael Clark of Education Powers Our Planet, the group behind the event, who were working closely with Harrison. 'He was very concerned that the money go to worthy causes and wanted to make sure that was all solidly in place. We had reached out to the people who had played at the original concert 30 years ago, people such as Bob Dylan, Eric Clapton, Leon Russell, Billy Preston, and Ringo Starr, and had commitments from most of them, and we had also booked several days at Madison Square Garden, where the original concert was held, but we had to cancel when it became clear that George was too sick to play.' Plans to hold the event in memory of Harrison could now get the green light. 'We would want to wait for a respectable amount of time and we wouldn't proceed without the blessing of Olivia, his widow.'

Click here to win one of 15 Miracle Homme Eau de Toilette 50ml sprays, the new fragrance for men by Lancôme.

Posted 11 December 2001

Like this? Want more?

Sign up for our Daily Fix and get the latest celebrity news delivered to your desktop

Email this page to a friend

the daily poll

one mouse, one vote...

Whose party would you rather attend?

- Madge and Guy
 Claudia and Matt
 Kerry ex-Kitten and Bryan McWestlife

Submit

Updated 11am

PeopleNews's roundup of today's papers

the loop

fashion bites

pop bites

soap bites

beauty bites

love bites

movie bites

The hotlist

All you need for a new you in 2002

Column Inches

Headliners 2001: the celebs who garnered the most column inches last year?